About Me:

I grew up in Baton Rouge, Louisiana and attended Baton Rouge Magnet High School. However, after moving to Russellville, Arkansas, I decided to attend Arkansas Tech University and graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in History/Political Science. After having worked at Conagra for several years I was able to get a job in the Atkins School District teaching at the high school. Since then I have gone on to get a Master's Degree in Educational Theory and Practice at Arkansas State University through an online program.

For many years at Atkins I taught Civics and World History. In the past couple of years I have added Sociology and AP Human Geography to the list of classes that I teach. I also sponsor the Strategy Game Club, which used to be known as the Chess Club, which meets on Thursdays after school.

My family includes my awesome wife, Terri, who is a native of Atkins, and four children. We currently reside in Russellville and attend Fellowship of Christians church. I feel very blessed to be teaching in the Atkins School District and I have enjoyed teaching with superb colleagues in a great community.
