I teach Honors Chemistry, Honors Physics and Physical Science at Atkins High School and have been on staff here for 8 years. My passion for student learning and excellence is the driving force that instills my classroom. I spent 35 years in the food industry working in management for the likes of Wilson Meats, Ocean Spray inc, Frito Lay and ConAgra. I came to teaching late in life, so my excitement of the profession has never had a chance to fade. I live in Russellville with my wife Karen who is the love of my life, and have two children, daughter Breckenn Onyett Findley and son Devin Onyett. My outside enjoyments include football officiating and playing video games.
